Player Booklet and Secret Clue

How to Play the Game

This room is full of murder suspects – and you are one of them! You must try to figure out who the murderer is tonight, by both accusing your fellow players and also trying to convince everyone else that you are innocent.

This game has four rounds, each round revealing new pieces of information about each character. Do not turn the page in your player's booklet until the host tells you to do so.

On the top of each page is information you are to share with the whole group. You can either ad lib or read directly from the page, but make sure that before moving on to the next round, you share all information on the top of each page with the whole group.

On the bottom of the page, you will see hidden information about your character. Do not reveal this information until you think it is the appropriate time. You may not lie if someone asks you about this information, but you do not need to offer incriminating evidence about yourself without a direct question. However, if you find out that you are the murderer, DO NOT TELL! If asked about it, you should say, "I am not aware of that information at this time," or just lie if you have to. Likewise, if someone asks you a question you do not know the answer to, just say, "I am not aware of that information at this time." The murderer is the only one permitted to lie at any time in this game.

There are also 8 secret clues that different players will reveal throughout the night. Make sure you do not look at your clue until your player's booklet tells you to look at it and pass it around to the group. When that time comes, just detach it and pass it around. You may also use the next page to take notes throughout the evening.

At the start of the game, the killer is not aware of his or her identity – it could even be you! Be suspicious of everyone's motives, and remain in character throughout the evening. After dessert, you will be given a chance to make your accusation. You may accuse any player of being the killer, including yourself. However, you must give evidence from the clues, and again, DO NOT TELL if the booklet says you are the killer! Have fun!

Well, I am sure you all know I am THE Bailey Bourgeonous. I won't hide that I am very annoyed to like be held like a prisoner or something even though the competition's over. My agent promised me that I would be out of here A.S.P.A. after the climb, and I have obligations none of you would understand the importance of, no offense. I am feeling really lousy that my charity, "Mini Models in the Making," is not going to get that money! I am so sure I would have won! Trust me, with the workout program I was on, I could have, like, destroyed any competition. It wasn't my fault my new heels gave me blisters and I had to stop halfway up the mountain. Now all I want is for this little dinner party thingy to be over with, so I would really appreciate it if the murderer would please just come forward now, okay? Seriously, take it from someone who has been in every tabloid in the grocery checkout, whether it's plastic surgery, a fake mole, or murder, the truth is gonna come out eventually!

I am hard up for extra money. The descendents of the Marilyn Monroe family have accused me of copying her signature mole to achieve fame. I am involved in a tense legal battle with them at the present time and it is draining my energy and costing major cash, not to mention a few new wrinkles!

Well, get this, everybody! Over the break I was reading, like, this really smart journal I found in the ladies room and I came across this article that I think you will all find very, very interesting, especially you, Chelsea, sweetie. Uh, oh! I smell T-R-U-B-B-L! You see, models do read and read important things! Anyway, here's what I found.

(Read your clue aloud, and then pass it around for all to see.)

Main Course

Oh, come on! Really? Seriously people? You know I tend to be dramatic in my comments. In fact, I am taking acting classes for a role in a new soap opera, Sow to the Wind. And if I said anything threatening to Richie, it was just me putting on a show for attention - my classes are obviously paying off. Look, we were just friends, very good friends. I was probably talking about how I was sick of hearing him go on and on and on about his climbing and work. And what about me? He acted like I don't ever lift a finger. It's, like, really hard eating celery and maintaining these buns of steel. So I was like, I want some R-E-S-P-E-K around here! Right ladies? Right? Whatever.

I had a little fling with Richard I. Paris about 6 months ago, and he has been trying to get with me ever since. On the call that Razzi overheard, I was very angry with Richard - he threatened to tell the tabloids if I didn't see him again. He wanted me to come on this trip so we could celebrate his victory together. I came, but only on the condition that this would be the last time, and that he would return all my personal items and leave me alone. If he didn't agree, I planned to take desperate measures. If he ruins my life, I ruin his. Looks like I don't have to worry about my secret getting out now!

I am getting, like, really tired and sick of all of this blabbing about my love life. Why can't you all like get a life for real and stop reading about and talking about mine! It's, like, so not easy being a beautiful star that everyone loves and wants to be like. Your love life is reported to every idiot on the planet, and every pretty little thing you say is twisted. I swear I can't trust anyone! I can't even trust someone who I thought was pretty sweet (glaring at Razy). I am so positive that if you guys don't stop gawking at me and my one or two mistakes, and my new wrinkle between my eyes, yes I saw you staring at it Chelsea! You guys are gonna miss out on the real killer! Whatever!

The elegant, yet closely guarded Majestic Mansion, located near the famous Mount Booyakasha in the South Pacific Islands may soon be under new management. It is reported that if the snobbish Chelsea Majestic does not win the "Contest to Climb Mount Booyakasha" this month, she will then lose the Majestic Mansion that has been in her name for years! To say the least, this prima donna is not exactly in prima shape to climb this range either. An ongoing court case has been postponed until after the contest, which is Ms. Majestic's last chance to come up with the mountain of lawyer fees and keep from going under. Her aging stepmother, Mrs. Geneva Paris-Majestic, widow of the late Michael C. Majestic, and her adult son were not available for comment at the time of press. The rumor is they claim Michael C. Majestic never left the mansion to Chelsea, but that she faked a living will leaving her his estate! His true will, they say, leaves the mansion to them. StarGaze hopes the new owners of this mansion will lighten up and let our photographers take some pictures from the inside for once! Don't worry, we'll keep our faithful ones posted.
