Razzy Darkshoot Player Booklet and Secret Clue

How to Play the Game

This room is full of murder suspects – and you are one of them! You must try to figure out who the murderer is tonight, by both accusing your fellow players and also trying to convince everyone else that you are innocent.

This game has four rounds, each round revealing new pieces of information about each character. Do not turn the page in your player's booklet until the host tells you to do so.

On the top of each page is information you are to share with the whole group. You can either ad lib or read directly from the page, but make sure that before moving on to the next round, you share all information on the top of each page with the whole group.

On the bottom of the page, you will see hidden information about your character. Do not reveal this information until you think it is the appropriate time. You may not lie if someone asks you about this information, but you do not need to offer incriminating evidence about yourself without a direct question. However, if you find out that you are the murderer, DO NOT TELL! If asked about it, you should say, "I am not aware of that information at this time," or just lie if you have to. Likewise, if someone asks you a question you do not know the answer to, just say, "I am not aware of that information at this time." The murderer is the only one permitted to lie at any time in this game.

There are also 8 secret clues that different players will reveal throughout the night. Make sure you do not look at your clue until your player's booklet tells you to look at it and pass it around to the group. When that time comes, just detach it and pass it around. You may also use the next page to take notes throughout the evening.

At the start of the game, the killer is not aware of his or her identity – it could even be you! Be suspicious of everyone's motives, and remain in character throughout the evening. After dessert, you will be given a chance to make your accusation. You may accuse any player of being the killer, including yourself. However, you must give evidence from the clues, and again, DO NOT TELL if the booklet says you are the killer! Have fun!

Hey all - Razy Darkshoot here. I am a single, freelance photojournalist from the Big Apple. If you ask me, these cops are just setting us up for a barrage of nonsensical questions that lead to nowhere. Being a photographer from a big, bustling city like NYC, I'm always on the go to one photo shoot or the next. I live such a fast-paced life that I rarely take time to step back and just chill out to admire nature, you know? I came, I saw, I froze my hiny off, and now I want some rest! I can study my negatives later when I get back. In that sense, I guess I'm really not that upset that we are being held here. I mean, it gives us a chance to just take it easy, eat some good food, and chill out which is exactly what I want to do tonight. But, I'm not really in the mood for arguing and being all serious, you know? I also have to tell you up front, I'm really not too concerned with the way this contest has ended up. I mean, I obviously I wouldn't win or anything, but I did think it would be fun to explore the South Pacific, get a funky workout, and get some hot shots. In fact, I got great footage of this exquisite ridge, and that is gonna ring up cash money for me, baby! You never know, maybe you'll see some of them in National Geographic one day.

One of the reasons you want to be quiet and are acting weird is because you work for a tabloid and you do not want the police or anyone else to find this out, or your camera and photographs might be confiscated. This would prevent you from making thousands of dollars off of some great footage. One big reason you made this climb is because you wanted some incriminating or embarrassing pictures of Bailey Burgeonous.

Not to distract from your convo but QUESTION, why in the world don't I have Internet access here? I mean, come on! Is this the flippin' 21st century or what? And I haven't been able to get any reception at all on my cell phone, even from the top of the freakin' mountain! What is it with this place? Some of us do have a life! I am waiting for a very important email or text from my boyfriend, and I am wondering if maybe he is having trouble getting through. Anyway, has anyone else had better luck getting in touch with civilization around here? Whatever. That has really been tickin' me off.

Share this after Ben reads your journal entry:

What a bunch of paranoid, snoop people! How dare you violate my privacy going through my journal! And now you want to use my own innocent comments against me? You're pathetic. You have no right to bring up such things. I did not plan on bringing those comments into this evening, and I prefer not to discuss any of it from here on out. Look, I am a hard-working, single girl who just wanted to get away for a while and capture some scenery, okay?! I told all of you, leave me alone! Anyway, between courses the police gave me this copy of a fax they received about Mr. Schnitzel over there (point to Hans). (Detach your clue, read it aloud, and then pass it around.)

I am having an Internet love affair with someone, that much is true. But what I am leaving out is that I suspect my boyfriend might be somebody here. He has clued me in to the fact that he would be involved with something major out here dealing with mountains, and he also hasn't written, which is very unlike him. I hope it is Bryan. He's hot. I am throwing these clues out because I am hoping he will catch the bait and 'fess up. It will be so nice to finally see what my man looks like, to actually meet in person! Even though he says he is bad with personal meetings, I think he's just being modest! This could turn out to be a really great night!

Share this information with the group after Simon Mirkweather:

I am not a murderer and I hope you can all see that easily. Yes, I dabble in the tabloid biz but that is only a hobby. My true passion is my online love affair, that and cold hard cash. And now that I have those great shots of Miss Bourgenous over there, it looks like at least my second passion will be coming to me soon. Cha-Ching! Anyway, I know you are all consumed with something kind of important to you right now, like a murder trial, but I have something really important to me on my mind. I am going to admit something very big here - (Stare at Bryan Steed.)

I am girlygrin@septo.net. Does this mean anything to anyone here? This probably sounds crazy, but I have a strange but beautiful feeling that my online lover might be right here in this room. Are any of you, by any chance, going by the screen name of huskyhunter74@mountain-net.com?

Solve the Mystery

Take a few moments to think through the following questions and decide for yourself who committed the murder. There are a lot of crooked characters here, but only one is a murderer!

Motive:

Who would most want to kill this man? Why?

Weapon:

Who would have had the means to do so?

Overall Evidence:

Whom does the evidence point to most strongly?

I, Razy Darkshoot, believe

committed the murder of
R. I. P.
